A total of 36 flowers, roots and aromatic plants were selected, some typical of the Sierra del Carche area such as rosemary, thyme, lavender or laurel.

Elaboration:
Macerated and infused with plants, flowers and roots separately to extract the desired aromatic notes. Later, the wine was headed, aged in barriques that previously refined quality red wine, then addition of cane sugar caramel in just the right measure to give the vermouth more body, texture, color and balance.

Ageing:
6 months in 225 liter French oak barriques.

Tasting notes:

Appearence: Medium amber, with elegant mahogany color and amber sheen.

Nose: The diversity of herbs, roots, spices and citrus fruits that it contains give it an intense floral aroma and perfumed with Mediterranean notes.

Palate: On the palate it is complex and elegant without the predominance of any of its 36 components. The balance between herbs and the reduced sugar content gives it a complex, subtle, elegant and fun character at the same time, with a pleasantly bitter finish.

It is sugested to try it cold; Alone or with ice cubes, a slice of orange or lime and some stuffed olives or some good marine “conservas”, to get a perfect aperitif.
